

BLUE DENIM LOCKS

OMEC'S ICONIC JEANS STYLE IS FEATURED ACROSS THE ENTIRE RANGE

There are details that define a brand's history.

For Omec, this detail is the characteristic light blue film with a denim-like texture – a unique hallmark conceived back in the 1970s by our founder, Lorenzo Camplani.

This film has always covered the casing of our horizontal locks, protecting them from corrosion, increasing their durability and ensuring incredible strength.

Today, the original 'Jeans' protection is being extended.

From now on, security locks for door frames and multi-point locks will also be fitted with the iconic light blue film.

We are thus extending our long-standing standards to our entire flagship range:

- Immediate recognisability on the market and on the workbench.
- Maximum surface protection against wear and tear.
- Omec's historic identity.

Because details matter and appearance counts, even in the world of security.
